Dear General Counsel,

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to inform you of my intention to file a motion in the Eastern District of New York Court for a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) and Preliminary Injunction. The purpose of this motion is to seek court-ordered relief that will require you to show cause why you should not be preliminarily enjoined from certain actions.

Pursuant to Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, I am obligated to make reasonable attempts to notify the opposing party about the restraining order I am seeking. In accordance with this rule, I am providing you with this advance notice to ensure transparency and to fulfill the legal requirements.

The specifics of the TRO and Preliminary Injunction will be detailed in the motion filed with the court, and you will have an opportunity to respond to the allegations and arguments presented therein. This process will allow both parties to present their respective cases before the court can make an informed decision.

Please be advised that this notice is not a formal legal document but rather a courtesy to inform you of the forthcoming legal proceedings. You will receive official legal documentation from the court once the motion is filed.

Thank you for your attention to this matter, and I look forward to the opportunity to resolve this dispute through the appropriate legal channels.

Respectfully,
Heather Jansen
